The Dangs

Where Birds & Butterflies teach lessons of the forest

Sometimes, just a few days can make lifelong memories. This Diwali vacation can be those few days when you can go deep into the lush green dang forest with Wilderness India. You will be staying in one of the most dense areas of the dang forest in a beautiful natural environment. Campsite set up on the bank of the Ambika river will prove a more than perfect set up to host you. In such a dense forest where the sunlight hardly hits the ground, wake up calls will be given by the chirping of birds and good night wishes will be delivered by crickets. The local bio-diversity of butterflies, insects and birds will take you to a wonderland that till date existed only in your imagination. Three days full of adventure and nature education, camp fires, singing sessions during the night, trekking to waterfalls and discovering new areas, learning the tribal culture and so much more is waiting for you to give a perfect sneak out during your vacation!
